

MARAM Collaborative Practice Training

About this Training

This training is an essential element in fulfilling the requirements of aligning to the MARAM Framework open to any professional in Victoria who responds to family violence:

Explore how to contribute to risk assessment and collaborate for ongoing risk management through respectful and sensitive engagement with victim survivors, information sharing, referral and secondary consultation.

This is not risk assessment training, but forms an integral component of the MARAM suite of training for professionals responding to family violence.

Cost Free

Delivery Format

The training is delivered in different formats in each region both online and face to face. See registration links for details in your area.

Before attending, it is expected that participants will have a basic understanding of the Multi-Agency Risk Assessment and Management Framework MARAM and Information Sharing Schemes or watch Helping end family violence – the Information Sharing Schemes and MARAM film (3.57 mins) and Let's change the story - violence against women in Australia (4.26 mins)

Participants who attend the training will be able to:

- Describe the MARAM Framework including responsibilities that drive collaborative practice across the service system
- Apply the four elements of structured professional judgement to their practice
- Outline how information sharing can enhance collaborative practice
- Outline their responsibilities under the MARAM and Information Sharing Schemes
- Describe what collaborative practice is and differentiate between practice, organisational and system enablers
- Apply intersectionality to enhance practice by examining personal privileges and oppressions
- Explain how to use collaborative practice to maintain perpetrator visibility
- Apply knowledge of evidence based risk factors
- Plan strategies to ensure a safe and respectful environment for all victim survivors including children
- Develop a collaborative risk management plan
- Implement effective processes for secondary consultation and referral within the local service system.

Other important resources

This training looks at the use of Information Sharing Schemes as an enabler of collaborative practice. You will get the most out of this session if you are familiar with the Information Sharing Training modules which are listed here: <https://www.vic.gov.au/training-for-information-sharing-and-maram#information-sharing-webinars-and-elearning-courses>
